BALDWIN NAMED BRITISH PREMIER

Accepts King George's Invitation to Form Cabinet

EARLY DEBT PACT

Washington Views Settlement Near in War Debt

LONDON, May 22.—Stanley Baldwin, chancellor of the exchequer in the old Bonar Law ministry, has been made premier of Great Britain.

Baldwin was summoned to Buckingham Palace by King George this afternoon and after a conference it was announced that he had accepted the invitation of the king to form a new government.

The announcement was made at 4:30 p. m.

Half Hour Conference

A selection of Baldwin was made after the king had indirectly communicated with leaders of the conservative party, of which Baldwin is a member.

The conference between the king and the new premier lasted more than an hour.

Baldwin went to the royal offices in a taxicab from number 11 Downing street. His wife accompanied him. As soon as he arrived he was ushered into audience with King George, and the offer was made.

New Cabinet Changes

Baldwin was the popular candidate for successor to the office made vacant Sunday night by the resignation of Bonar Law, whose throat illness made it impossible for him to continue.

Baldwin is expected to receive the automatic resignations of the old Bonar Law cabinet members forthwith and the new cabinet probably will be appointed tomorrow. There will be no material changes.

Lone Bricklayer Walks Out in Dignified Parade When Strike is Called

All his companions on the job previously had been temporarily dropped from the payroll.

60 Hours to Pistol Bark in Whisker Fad

Two days and three nights—the mere trifle of 60 hours now intervene before Port Arthur's latest venture into the whisker fad.

The Whiskers Club.

It's a Quarter Centennial affair. The contest closes and the winner will be announced at the close of the centennial celebration here on July 4.

Remember, the club must start off with a membership of at least 25. If 25 candidates can be secured, it is just as easy to get 100. Have you signed up yet? Cards ready tomorrow.

There's nothing hard about growing chin whiskers. It is an opportunity to knock shaving off of the daily routine. And then, too, maybe friend wife will let you stay at home for a while. Persons who haven't had time to eat and shave in the same day and just naturally had to eat, can feel at ease as a member of the whisker sprouting fraternity.

It's the only opportunity on record anywhere that has hesitated while you make up your mind. There's sixty hours remaining before the "pistol bark" and the race begins.

Every male booster in Port Arthur should be getting set to toe the scratch.

Let's go!

Death Spectre In Wall-st Bomb Explosion

NEW YORK, May 22.—Death spectre of 39 men and women who lost their lives in the famous Wall Street bomb explosion of 1929 have risen again.

A young man named Noah Lerner is now believed by police to hold the key to the three-year mystery. Disfranchised colonists of the Kuzbas communist settlement in Siberia may that Lerner boasted over there that he knew the secret of the explosion that rocked New York's financial district and created an international sensation.

Lerner, engineer, electrician, mechanic and chemist of sorts—is the latest of many who have been arrested in the long, fruitless investigation of the famous blast. Here is the story of the tragedy and the chase:

Chapter I
A wagon drawn by one horse paused at the curb a few yards from the corner of Wall and Broad streets, next to the granite and marble banking house of J. P. Morgan & Co. and across the narrow thoroughfare from the United States sub-treasury and the assay office on one corner and the Stock Exchange on the other. It was noon of Sept. 10, 1929.

Suddenly came the roar and blinding flash of an explosion. Thousands were pouring from skyscrapers of the financial district and the streets were choked with people. Thirty-nine of them were killed and more than 100 injured by flying fragments. Millions of dollars' damage was done. Wreckage of a wagon and a dead horse were the only clues.

Chapter II
The Wall Street blast shocked the country. A theory that a powder wagon, on the way to a construction job, had exploded accidentally was swept away instantly by a wave of indignation and protest. A timed bomb, investigators said.

Chapter III
Thousands of Jews were advanced. Wholesale arrests were made: all were released. Two men were deported in 1921; another in 1922. Investigators arrested Robert Elin, Brooklyn Italian, and failing to connect him with the Wall Street blast deported him in August, 1921. Three months later Ludovic Camilla, of Paterson, N. J., was suspected and was deported. William J. Burris, famous detective

Owner and driver of the death cart were never found, though expert farmers and wagon makers were called in to identify the horse and vehicle. William J. Burris, then chief of the bureau of investigation of the Department of Justice, said from the first it was a plot. Most investigators agreed. A grand jury returned a similar opinion.

Chapter IV
Two women and four men, named as conspirators, were said to be in Russia, where Linde had been sent to track them. His own arrest resulted in the naming of a New York blacksmith as the bomb maker.

Three confessions were reported and Burns announced that Linde's evidence linked the Wall Street blast with the Moscow Third International.

Linde was brought back from Warsaw by a detective in December, 1922, and immediately went on a hunger strike. The same month he was deported, leaving the explosion as much a mystery as ever.

Chapter V
Meanwhile government investigators, piecing together minute scraps of evidence, constructed a composite photograph of the man supposed to have driven the death cart.

Many "confessions" were made. A recent one, in March, 1923, was made by a man in jail in Los Angeles. Chief Burns discredited his story, as he did all others.

Burns, however, made this statement April 9 last: "The name of every person involved in the Wall Street plot is known to my department and all are in Russia."

Chapter VI
Noah Lerner, 23 years old, born in Russia but a naturalized American and a resident of this country for eight years, returned from a visit to Russia on the steamer Homeric May 3 last.

Police immediately began looking for him. They acted on information furnished by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Doyle, recently returned from Russia where they had gone with hundreds of other Americans to join the Kuzbas Colony, established in Siberia to work under a communist grant given "Big Bill" Haywood.

The Doyles, who were also responsible for the government investigation into the activities of the New York offices of the Kuzbas Colony, told police they had met Lerner in Russia as an agent of this office. Police say they declared Lerner told them he was a leading spirit in the Wall Street blast of 1929 and had hired the man who drove the death cart.

Chapter VII
Several special delivery letters were sent by detectives to Noah Lerner in care of the New York Kuzbas headquarters in an effort to find him. There was no answer. Finally a decoy letter was sent informing him that other mail awaited him at the Times Square postoffice. He fell into the trap and was arrested.

Lerner was jailed on a charge of homicide, specifically for the killing of Miss Carolyn Dickerson, one of the victims of the Wall Street blast.

The prisoner is small, with a lean and clean-shaven face and a prominent nose. He is fairly well dressed and is self-contained and smiling.

"I had nothing to do with the Wall Street explosion whatever," he says.

"Lerner was not at Wall Street on the day of the explosion," says his counsel.

Waukegan, Ill., May 22.—Three men declared by police Chief Julius Bolz to have confessed participation in between twenty and thirty distillery robberies in Kentucky, are in custody here today.

Two of the prisoners are suffering from back-shot wounds they said were received in an attempted holdup of the Samuels Distillery at Deutsville, Ky., last Tuesday.

The trio gave names as W. A. Roby, Peter Walker, and Marion Hall, which police believe fictitious. According to Bolz, they admitted that operations of their gang resulted in many casualties within the bandit ranks in the last few months.

SPIRIT MESSAGE CLAIMS MURDER

Friends of Man Say Ghost Tipped Them

NEW YORK, May 22.—After communication with the spirit world, occult friends of Claude Wright, New York business man and student of the occult, who was drowned last January in Pearl lagoon in Nicaragua, charge that he was the victim of foul play.

His death was reported as an accident and even the insurance companies accepted it as such on receiving the report and identification by the American consul at Bluefields, Mr. Wright went to Nicaragua last December in the interest of Mrs. Eleanor Brocman, wealthy New York woman, to investigate some banana properties.

Occult friends of Wright in New Orleans, in letters to Mrs. Brocman, say they communicated with Wright in the spirit world and that he replied:

"There wasn't every effort made to save me that there might have been."

Before leaving for Nicaragua, his friends say, they warned him not to go as they feared the trip would end disastrously.

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 22.—A 13-year-old girl was in jail here Monday night for stealing a 3-months-old baby, her second similar offense in two weeks, the police announced.

The girl, according to the police, stole the infant, baby buggy and all from in front of a downtown department store, took the child home, changed its clothing and hid the buggy.

Police said the girl has no brothers or sisters. They believe her act is chargeable to a longing for a baby brother or sister. No charge has been placed against the girl.

ADMIT ROBBING 30 DISTILLERIES

Three Men, Two Riddled With Buckshot, Held

WAUKEGAN, Ill., May 22.—Three men declared by police Chief Julius Bolz to have confessed participation in between twenty and thirty distillery robberies in Kentucky, are in custody here today.

Two of the prisoners are suffering from back-shot wounds they said were received in an attempted holdup of the Samuels Distillery at Deutsville, Ky., last Tuesday.

The trio gave names as W. A. Roby, Peter Walker, and Marion Hall, which police believe fictitious. According to Bolz, they admitted that operations of their gang resulted in many casualties within the bandit ranks in the last few months.

BACK OF NATIONS' LEAGUE

Here Sunday,
Making Starting Claim

Isaac, of "big business, big politics, and big churches" to force on the people a league that shall hold the nations together in an attempt of Satan to effect the "Messianic Kingdom."

When Joseph Isaac, Jr., said in a speech Sunday afternoon in the A. Hall, 250 Procter street, "Satan is out under the auspices of the International Bible Students' association of Brooklyn, New York."

Isaac's empire legally ended in 1918, and there Christ, then present, began to "eat Satan," Isaac said. "The people times ended August 1, 1918, and exactly on time, as predicted by Christ, the World War started."

"This World War, the great famine that has come since, the pestilence of Spanish influenza that swept the earth, the revolutions that are now on and have been on for some time in various parts of the earth, all mark the activities of the Lord in overthrowing Satan's empire," the speaker declared.

"All conditions point to a great climax of trouble among the nations of the earth within the next few years. This means the climax of God's vengeance against Satan's empire, in which it will be completely overthrown and destroyed and the new heavens and the new earth will there begin," Isaac said.

"The reign of Christ will continue," he said, "until all the enemies of man are destroyed, the last enemy being death."

The Comic Jubilee
"The jubilee system, a type of the Messianic reign, which began to count in the year 1575 B. C., according to the Scriptures, and were to cover a period of 5000 years, will end in 1925," Isaac said.

In opening his address, Isaac set forth the Biblical account of man's fall when tempted by the Devil in the Garden of Eden, traced the war in heaven, which resulted in Lucifer and his hosts being thrown out by Jehovah, and the appellations of "Devil," "Satan," "Dragon," and "Serpent" being given to the fallen archangel.

"Satan is the god of this world, and 'what here means the commercial, political, social and ecclesiastical organizations of men," Isaac said. "At most all observe that an unseen evil power influences the affairs of men, causing selfishness, lying, fraud, deceit, cheating, stealing, all kinds of immorality, murder, wars, famine, pestilence, revolution and other similar things," he said.

Mother of 13 Kills
Mate But Protests
Her Love for Him

NEW YORK, May 22.—Mrs. Mary Lanigan, mother of 13 children, six of whom are living, is held without bail here, charged with first degree murder.

Mrs. Lanigan is accused of having shot and killed her husband, John, on the thirtieth anniversary of their wedding. Their son, William, 13, was held as a witness.

Police declared Mrs. Lanigan claimed she killed her husband because of his continued brutality to her and the children. He left her last year, she told the police, after he had spent $60,000 received by their son, Richard, 23, in settlement of a claim against a railroad after he had had a leg cut off in an accident.

A daughter, Anna, Mrs. Lanigan said, went to the father's shop to ask for money. She returned home to say she had been beaten and thrown out. Mrs. Lanigan said she then went to the shop with her son, William, only to suffer the same fate.

Police said Mrs. Lanigan shot her husband with a pistol she found in his shop. She dashed to the street screaming: "I didn't mean to do it. With all his faults, I loved him. Poor John."

Edna's Flapperism
Driving Him Crazy,
Grandfather Says

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 22.—"She drove her poor mother crazy by her flapper antics and her staying out late at night. She'll do the same for me if the law doesn't take a hand."

Such was the testimony offered in a fathering voice by Chris Bruegg, 40, as he appeared on the witness stand in district court against his granddaughter, Edna Leslie, 19. She was charged with vagrancy on the complaint of her grandfather in his effort to have the authorities correct her conduct.

"Oh, my grandmother is too old-fashioned for me," snapped the girl in reply. "He thinks because a girl is having a good time she ought to be arrested."

Judge Page continued the case for a week to permit further investigation. The girl was released on her own bond. The grandfather had testified that his daughter, Margaret Leslie, the girl's mother, was confined to a sanatorium since last winter because of her worry over the girl's conduct.

It snowed; next day they picked berries
BOONVILLE, Mo., May 22.—Tuesday night it snowed here. Wednesday farmers were busy gathering their strawberries of the season. A heavy wind swept the snow away before fruit or crops were damaged.

It may be hard to catch a certain number of his secretary, she said.

When don't come home drunk, they can't find the house.

The other day a lady attracted by our beautiful window display came into our store and after a careful inspection of the Aluminum asked the usual question, "Will it stand up for years?" We showed her the 20-year guarantee stamped upon each piece. And we also showed her that in case she was not satisfied all that was necessary was to bring it back to us or send it to the factory, and as A FURTHER TEST, Mr. Scott, placed a delicate 2-quart Aluminum sauce pan on the floor and stood upon it. Mr. Scott weighs more than 200 pounds. When he stepped off the sauce pan it was in just as good condition as before the test. The lady was satisfied. You too, can see this test with your own eyes. Before the doors open tomorrow morning a demonstrator will place his weight upon any piece of aluminum you select for him. YOU ARE THE JUDGE. Don't be bashful, ask for the test. We know what kind of quality this aluminum is composed of. See the test.

We have made arrangements to take care of 5000 people. Hundreds of women, viewing our window display, have endeavored to purchase some of the Aluminum, but have been refused. ## AN UNSUCCESSFUL EXPERIMENT

There was an old colored preacher in Texas who was a great admirer of the Rev. Sam Jones. One Sunday he determined to drop his old style of exhorting the brethren, and pitch hot shot plump into the middle of a camp after the manner so successfully followed by the famous Georgia evangelist.

After the opening hymn had been sung, and the congregation led in prayer by a worthy deacon, the old preacher laid his spectacles on his Bible, and let out straight from the shoulder.

"My dearly belubbed," he said, "I have been preachin' to you for 'nigh five years, and de grace ob God has failed to percolate in yo' obdurate hearts. I had never seen a more obdurate set of niggers in de whole of Texas. Now dar is Sam Watkins in de fiftieth bench on de left. Kin anybody show me a nigger, frailer, low downer buck nigger in dis community? What does de chicken feathers come from dat I see in dis back yard dis mornin'?"

Brother Watkins sat in his pew with his eyes rolling and breathing hard, but was taken by surprise and did not respond.

"And dar is Elder Hoskins, on de right. Everybody knows he's a tyin' shiftee, beer drinking bum. His wife supports him tain't in washin'. What good is de blood of de Lamb done for him? Wonder if he thinks dat he kin keep losin' 'round in de kitchen ob de New Jerusalem?"

Elder Hoskins, gaudied by these charges, rose in his seat, and said: "Dat reminds me ob one thing. I doesn't remember dat I had obber worked on de county road for thirty days down in de prison count, for stealin' a bale of cotton."

"Who did? Who did?" said the parson, putting on his spectacles and glaring at the elder. "Who stole dat cotton? You she yo' mouf, niggah, fo' I come down dah and bust you wite open."

After this interlude of passionate self-defense, the parson continued: "I see Bill Rodgers ober dar, who am know to had loaded dice, fur playin' craps, and habber pays a cent fur what his family eats. De Lawd am shore guine ter snash him in de neck. De judgment ob de Spirit am guine ter rise up an' eat him down."

Bill Rodgers stood up and put his thumbs in the armbolles of his vest. "I could name, sah," he said, "a certain party who wuz run off ob Colonel Yancy's farm fo' playin' seben up, wid marked eyes, ob I choosed to."

"Dat's madder he," said the preacher, closing his Bible and turning up his cuffs. "Look out Bill Rodgers, I'm comin' down dar to you."

The preacher got out of his pulpit and made for Bill, but Sam Watkins and Elder Hoskins came quickly to Bill's assistance. Then the rest of the brothers and sisters joined in and the flying hymn books and the sound of ripping clothes testified to the fact that the Sam Jones style of preaching did not go in that particular church.

YOU AND I

A village where the women rule the men is discussed by Dr. Alexander Hamilton Rice, Boston globe-traveler and explorer, Modern Amos.

Rice says the women do all the bossing, order the men to bring firewood, clean the primitive cooking utensils, and so on. If the men object, they are rapped over the head with a club carried by the viceroy who is chief of the whole outfit. Many a henpecked husband has dreamed of such a place.

GERMS

One out of every seven boys slaughtered under federal inspection in 1932 had tuberculosis lesions—disseminated parts, usually in the head and neck. The inspectors examined 30,416,439 boys during the year and found 5,640,061 of them had "t. b."

You needn't be alarmed. The dangerous cases were condemned, two million dollars worth of pork destroyed. The housewife, however, will realize the necessity of cooking pork thoroughly to destroy all disease germs. Heat is the surest germ killer.

EXPORTING

Old-time bookbinders at the Leroy Printing plant in Indianapolis comment that in the old days Bibles were rebound over and over again, while now there are very few.

Does this mean our generation is losing the Bible? Not according to the binders. Their theory is that the Bible is not so many "fighting par-sons" as there used to be, and Bibles do not receive such rough treatment.

They will start many gray-haired bookbinders. Do you remember a preacher could be heard shouting away on a chair summer's day when the church windows were closed?

SAVING THE FIBRE

Congressman Albert Johnson of Washington is chairman of the house committee on immigration. This is his warning: "The United States no longer is and will not be an asylum for the people of the world. Wholesale migrations of people to the United States are ended for all time. There are those who see in this immigration question a fight between capital and labor. Let me say that the president doesn't see it in that light at all. The fight is for the future of the United States. The fight is for posterity here and not for posterity in Constantinople or anywhere else. The come back in two years' time from 5,000,000 unemployed in the United States to work for everybody who will work is remarkable. It is a little more than normal. Restriction of immigration has played a full part of it; both capital and labor are winners but the greatest gainers is the United States of America. Our fiber is being saved. We are cleaning house."

Congressman Johnson asserted that the present three percent restrictive immigration law would be further restricted by going back to the 1890 census as a basis and limiting the percentage to two per cent. This is why Mexicans and negroes are being taken north by the agents of the great manufacturers. Congressman Johnson knows whereof he speaks. National law makers keep their ear to the ground. They know who do the voting. They know that neither the captains of industry nor the agents of the big shipping companies are of much importance on election day.

TWO GROUPS OF COUNTIES

Undisputed facts are disclosed by the records according to Gus Reininger of Comal, would show that there are two groups of counties in the state, namely the low percentage assessed counties and the high percentage assessed counties.

The low percentage assessed counties are composed of a group of 95 which have only increased their assessment 101 per cent over their assessment of 1906, the year prior to the enactment of the so-called full rendition law.

The high percentage assessed counties, which group consists of 159 counties, have for the same period increased their assessment 232 per cent.

This is the constitutional requirement, "Taxation shall be equal and uniform."

Let those who make the laws answer. Let those who pay the taxes listen. The people are the masters.

They make and unmake laws. They make and unmake public servants. Why not comply with the constitutional requirement?

"Taxation shall be equal and uniform."

Soviet Russia is said to have been inflamed by the recent British note. John Bull doesn't care. He will continue to walk in the middle of the road and care for his own. It is a way he has.

ON HIS WAY

Governor Prues of Minnesota resigned his office to become Senator Prues and to take the late Knute Nelson's seat in the American senate. Knute Nelson was an alien. He was of the Scandinavian race. Prues is an alien. He is of the Scandinavian race. Knute Nelson won and held a high place among American statesmen.

Prues for years was his private secretary. Nelson trained him. Prues became governor of Minnesota. He has two terms to his credit and another in sight. Knowing that death was near Knute Nelson whispered to his lieutenant that Prues had the stuff in him necessary for a real American law maker.

Then came the demand on the part of the people for Prues to resign as governor and to go to Washington as the successor of their old chief. Nelson had character as well as distinguished ability. Prues has character. He has been a servant of the people. He was trained by a master and some day he may rank with the leading statesmen of America.

Opportunity has something to do with the making of a man.

GOLD

Herbert Hoover says that the gold reserves of the country have increased from $2,000,000,000 to $3,000,000,000 since 1920 and that this accumulation might be used to produce an inflation of credit and currency which would mean the greatest era of speculation and inflation in our country. Then it is possible for too much gold to bring disaster upon a nation. This is the logic of the Hoover argument. Is it possible that the United States is poverty stricken because it has captured half the gold supply of the world?

HAVANA IS WET

American steam ship companies are boycotting Vera Cruz. They refuse to permit their ships to stop at that port and all because the union port workers boycotted the American ships that refused to employ their members. There is not much consolation in this for wet passengers who are making reservations on the Ward and other liners for the reason that the supreme court decided that all ships must be dry within the three mile limit. It is possible for the southern liners to obey this decree and then re-stock at Vera Cruz. Now Havana will get the wet business.

WET AND DRY

New Jersey democrats swept all before them in recent local elections and captured all the local pie. New Jersey has a wet senator who is a democrat and a wet senator who is a republican. New Jersey has a governor who is a total abstainer and who insists that the Volstead act should be revised.

There are all kinds of democrats. Down here in Texas there are dry democrats who are not total abstainers; wet democrats who are total abstainers; there are democrats, at least one democrat, who would imprison a man for 99 years for making bogus whiskey.

There are democrats who have enacted a law that provides that a democrat office holder who gets intoxicated shall be automatically removed from office and there are democratic office holders who would take a bracer without batting an eye, take it deep and often and never show the least sign of intoxication.

John Barleycorn is on the toboggan in Texas. Everytime he turns around he is facing the main entrance to the penitentiary with the gates ever swinging inward.

Herbert Hoover advises the people to buy their coal now. He says that if the public stocks its coal between now and September it will relieve the fall and winter rail traffic. Herbert Hoover is a wise man but he should be told there are millions of Americans who buy coal when they need it and then carry it in sacks. He should invade the tenement districts of American cities in winter time.

LETTER FROM LESLIE PRESCOTT TO LESLIE PRESCOTT, CARE OF THE SECRET DRAWER

I sometimes wonder if the gay little Marquise whose love letters used to lie in this receptacle, ever found one that made her very sad. Some way the ones that I place here seem only to record an unhappiness of some kind.

I can write my joys and my pleasures to my friends, but it is only to you, Leslie Prescott, that I may tell the things that bother me, that grieve me.

For you see I have perhaps a peculiar idea that no woman should find fault with her husband to any other person. Not even to her mother should she voice the slightest criticism of him unless things become so bad that she finds she cannot live with him any more.

Dear old Jack has not read that place by many a mile but it does take a long time to get to the place of understanding. I love him much and I know that he loves me, but Love is a jealous little god and he just won't be made to go in with the other Lares and Penates. He wants it all or nothing.

When Jack is away from me, he is nothing else but perfect and I dream of him as he is at times when he comes in with that gay laugh of his and waltzes me around the room and kisses me on my nose, my lips and my throat and tells me I am the sweetest thing he has ever known.

I always think he is going to be like this when he comes home and I am so disappointed when he comes in looking glum and unhappy. I know that things have gone wrong at the office and I don't dare ask him about it because I know he doesn't want me to talk to him about his business.

I wonder why it is that men do not like to talk over their business with their wives. No one would be as interested as a man's wife would be in his business, and yet they will tell intimate details of their business and their life to some other woman and talk shop by the hour with their stenographers and their secretaries.

Jack did not look cross at all the other night when Mabel Locke congratulated him on his latest advertising campaign which is now spread all over the papers and magazines of the country. The first night I saw it, I was so happy about it and tried to tell him so.

But he said impatiently, "Oh, let's don't talk about it. I'm so tired, I never want to hear of the thing again. It's done to, I start something new tomorrow."

Some way the every day cares and responsibilities of married life push all the sentiment out of it. Jack thinks I am awfully sentimental but to me a man or woman without sentiment is a man or woman without an ideal—without sympathy—without soul and I would almost give up Jack's love rather than the sentimental part of my nature. It makes me able to appreciate to the fullest all that his love brings into my life.

This isn't such an unhappy letter after all. I started to write something very different and yet I don't know whether it is your influence, dear little Marquise, but I can only think just now of my great big splendid husband who, in spite of his lapses and idiosyncrasies, little faults and foibles, has made me happier than I have ever been before. Here he comes.

THE EVILS OF PUBLICITY

In the late Wm. de Mille production, "The World's Applause," the central idea is the price of publicity.

Colorful, exotic Bebe Daniels is seen in the role of Corinne D'Alys, a successful artist of the stage whose high place has been largely due to her insatiable search for publicity. Lewis Stone, finished stage and screen artist, is seen as John Elliott, a dramatic producer who becomes enmeshed in emotional situations of compelling force with his sister, played by Kathlyn Williams, whose jealousy of her artist husband to drag them all into a quagmire of scandal.

THRILLER SCIENCE ENDORSED

An extraordinary feature, the result of a camera expedition through the wilds of the dark continent, Africa, made by Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson, afford some of the most fascinating and instructive animal shots that have been brought to the screen in "Trailing African Wild Animals," which is now running at the Pearce theater.

Mural Decoration

By BERTON BRADLEY

"Bright Wallpaper gives pep and zest to a home and to those in it"—Lucy Taylor to the National Wallpaper Manufacturers' Association.
Peter Jones was peaceful, Peter Jones was mild.
He never did a single thing unusual or wild.
They "tole him" at the office, his good wife ruled his home.
No thought or dream rebellious had ever filled his dome.
The crowd forever jostled him, the rough guys trampled on him,
He meekly took the many woes that fortune wished upon him.
A spineless sort of character, who talked in meek tones,
A humble individual, was Mr. Peter Jones.

The paperhanger came one day, and to the entrance hall
Of Peter Jones' domicile he pasted on the wall
Some brilliant yellow paper—the effect of which was such
That when out here saw it he was peeped up pretty much.
He read his wife the riot act, he filled her heart with fear.
He belittled in a raucous voice, "By Heck, I'm master here!"
And next day at the office, quite reversed all his ways,
He walked in on the manager and bluffed him for a raise!

That brilliant yellow paper made the other rooms seem dim,
So Peter ordered paper which had color, light and vim,
With scarlet and with purple, with cardinal and pink
He papered all his domiciles until it made you blink.
And as the paperhangers came and pasted up each roll,
Why, Peter grew more cocky and more arrogant of soul!
He's managing the business now, his chickens all have fled,
And you'll find his private office papered brilliantly in red!

SOFT CREPES, COOL LINENS, AND CRISP ORGANDIES ARE FASHION'S LATE OFFERINGS

Let cool winds blow, and spring rains fall. June is in the offing and whether warm or cool, my lady of fashion must have complete her summer wardrobe of soft silky crepes, crisp organdies and cool linens.

Some of the smart new summer frocks for midsummer season are being shown in downtown shop windows. Those on display are chosen from among hundreds of beautiful models because they are typical of the mode.

One of the smartest cotton three-piece costumes seen for many a day was noticed recently. The skirt and box coat were of natural colored linen embroidered in Egyptian red overcast cotton in so intricate a design that it looked like an all-over embroidered fabric. The coat was bound in the red grosgrain ribbon. The little overblouse was of finely tucked French voile, with much abbreviated sleeves. The skirt was a wrap-over model with one button fastening.

Of sweetheart blue was a gorgeous frock, charming as youth itself, with plaited ruffles and tucks, cream val blue and garlands and flying ends of blue moire ribbon, which was recently on display downtown.

The ever stunning mapple combination was shown to advantage in a frock of black crepe with jabot and insets of white lace. The skirt was laid in knife pleats. The wash of black crepe, over gay cerise ribbon.

Printed crepe is holding its own this season. Such a frock of printed gray crepe, with spot design in blue, and the loveliest rosettes of beige val seen the other day. The rosettes effectively concealed the elastic at the bottom of the skirt, which drew the fullness into a hobble. A bunch of red straw flowers on one shoulder was a graceful final touch.

Chiffon will also be worn extensively during the midsummer months, and the larger the design, the smarter the dress. A printed chiffon, showing gorgeous roses, splashed with black, and with green foliage on a white background makes a stunning frock. Black lace finishes the hem of the skirt, and black beads edge the winglike panels. The sash is of black velvet.

For those who do not care for the ready-made frocks, shops are supplying lawn and organdie for the slightly bouffant frock, chiffon and lace for the draped or clinging silhouette, voiles, gingham and fine batistes for morning frocks—silk crepes of all sorts and taffetas as light as crepes—and all the fabrics out of which the spring frocks are cut.

Valenciennes lace and other sorts of the current lace are used with old-time lavishness on frocks of lawn, voiles and organdies, and even on some crepes. The use of fine narrow lace has come back hand-in-hand with the art of fine tucking.

Figured organdies are new, and possess the crispness so devoutly to be wished in summer, and for this fact they promise to rival chiffon and lace. These organdies seem to steer clear of the weird figures that haunt the dreams of present designers, for the prevailing design is of the floral sort, printed in soft yet clear colors.

A LOVELY hospitality of Monday's social calendar had as hostess Miss Laurella Burnham who entertained at her home, 2017 Sixth street, with a charming miscellaneous shower in compliment to Miss Alice Hanchett, whose marriage to Mr. N. E. Cochran will be an event of the month of June.

The home was adorned throughout with dainty sweet peas and fleur-de-lis, their beauty showing in clustered arrangements in fluted bowls and vases. During the closing hour of the delightful hospitality, Miss Hanchett was presented with an attractively decorated basket, in which were concealed the gifts. Mrs. Arthur Beard and Miss Burnham presented the gifts to Miss Hanchett. A tempting ice course was served during the evening, and pretty favors of sweet pea corsages were presented the guests as souvenirs.

The personnel of this charming affair included members of the Stitches Club, among whom were Miss Alice Hanchett, Miss Mary Beard, Mrs. Arthur Beard and little son, Charles Clayton Beard, Miss Eunice Rogers, Mrs. H. Daily Terrell, Miss Willie Carter, Miss Abbie Dickinson, Mrs. Joe Giffin, Mrs. Wallace Follett, Mrs. Neal D. Rader, Miss Frances Bushong, and Miss Laurella Burnham.

MRS. T. J. PHILLIPS OF 823 Liberty street left Sunday evening for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Blythe in Orange Cove, Calif. While in California, Mrs. Phillips will visit in San Francisco and Los Angeles before returning in August.

MISS LUCILLE BREAUX ENTERTAINED the Ever Happy Club Saturday evening at her home, 1000 Eighth street.

Games and sewing gave diversion during the evening, preceding which a short business session was held. At the close of the evening a delicious ice course was served.

Those attending the meeting were Misses Rosemary Stiehl, Ada Vandergiff, Leona Rogers, Ursula Vandergiff, Willie Mosler, Eugenia Jackson, Clara Rogers, Lucille Breaux, and the following guests: Miss Katie Brittain, Mrs. N. H. Breaux, and Mrs. W. C. Kent.

Miss Rosemary Stiehl will be the club's hostess on June 2 at her home, 2010 Fourth street.

From a $3. a Week Extra Girl to a Star in Her Own Right in 5 Years Is Advance of Miss Rich

IRENE RICH

BY JACK JUNGMEYER

HOLLYWOOD, May 22.—A singularly striking woman, with two daughters almost shoulder high, so ingeniously pleased with the real gown of her current movie masquerade as her youngsters with their dolls.

That's the way I first saw Irene Rich in person, at a home dinner—a tall, graceful young matron who has swept to screen courtesy from the background of army post life on the impulses of a gipsy-like nature.

"I feel so excited in this costume," she said frankly, twisting the long train, "that I didn't want to change it for a peasea dinner dress."

And I heartily agreed with the unsolicited children when they chirped, "Mamma, you look just beautiful."

That irrepressible witte, the capacity for "feeling excited" over simple things, I should say, is the secret of "Miss" Rich's steady progress from a $3 extra-five years ago to leading roles with a number of the foremost producers. This and the ability to focus varied experiences in her work.

She is "Miss" Rich since the time she came to the movies from matrimonial debacle to earn bread beauty shop in the Dismukes building, which was formerly known as Madame Jean's Beauty Shoppe.

MISS WILLA PLYATT PLEASINGLY entertained the Young Ladies' Missionary Society yesterday afternoon at her home on Stillwell boulevard.

The Bible Study was conducted by Miss Mildred Savon, and during the business session the members discussed the sending of two delegates to the district missionary convention which convenes in Liberty next week.

A social hour followed and a delicious ice course was offered.

Those attending yesterday's session were Misses Thelma Campbell, Nettie Mae Butts, Pearl McNeill, Mildred May, Mildred Savon, Alene Winn, Blanche McBride, Daisy Edwards, Katherine Wall and Willa Plyatt, and Mrs. J. W. Barron, sponsor.

CAPTAIN AND MRS. E. R. HAND proved a delightful host and hostess at a tea on board the U. S. steamer Bache recently.

Delicious refreshments were served, with Mrs. Jones presiding at the tea urn and Mrs. Clare at the coffee urn. While refreshments were being served the guests were entertained with a radio concert.

The guests included Capt. and Mrs. Jordan and children, from the U. S. S. Hydrographer, Lieut. and Mrs. Jones, Lieut. and Mrs. Clare, Lieut. and Mrs. Thomas, Chief Engineer Conover, Mr. J. W. Beck, Mr. Kerr, and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Nevins.

THE RECEPTION AT THE Country Club tomorrow evening for the members of the American Legion and eligible members, with the American Legion Auxiliary as hostess will be a delightful event.

Invitations for the affair have been posted, and members of the Legion and Auxiliary are permitted to invite eligible members for either organization.

All are requested to assemble at the American Legion club rooms on Lake Shore drive, and those having automobiles who wish to assist in getting the guests to the Country Club are requested to meet at the clubrooms at 7:30 o'clock.

THE W. B. A. OF THE MACCABEES will meet tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the W. O. W. hall. A number of important business matters will be discussed on account of having no meeting last month. It is hoped that all members of the Maccabees will be present.

THE WORKERS' CONFERENCE will be held tomorrow night at the First Christian church at 7:30 o'clock. On account of the important matters pertaining to the Sunday school to be discussed, all teachers and officers are especially urged to be present.

DENY BEAUMONT HAS LEGAL RIGHT

across the Neches river, provided for in the official call for the $2,000,000 bond election.

But there was no harmony. Grievances were many and they were being continually aired. Everyone present had a chance to talk and he took advantage of it.

The Port Arthur delegation strenuously objected to the policy of Beaumont representatives to "crum the Neches bridge down our throats regardless of roads."

Suggestions for a solution of the present tangle included that of floating a new county bond issue of approximately $200,000 to cover appropriations now lacking, that of a financial audit of the bond issue funds and declaring a new apportionment taking into consideration money already spent, that of adhering to the motion adopted by the commissioners' court to apportion the bond money by precincts according to taxable valuation.

All of these came in for some consideration but were not worthy of outright adoption.

At no time would the hearing actually even consider Beaumont's many times reiterated "legal right" to use any part or all of the bond money for construction of the Neches bridge.

It was this insistent demand from Beaumont that caused rejection of each proposal. Should a new bond issue be floated, the county at large objected to Beaumont's claim that the bridge apportionment should be set aside first, and then the remaining funds distributed for road work.

Should an audit be made and a new deal be declared, the county at large objected to paying for the bridge regardless of road projects.

And no amount of argument that the bridge is a county proposition could swing another delegation over toward the way of thinking of the Beaumonters.

The deciding factor, at adjournment of the hearing, proved to be the request for full and complete information regarding Beaumont's claim to the county court for bond money expenditures and all other information relating to the present situation from the time of passage of the bond issue itself.

This request was included in a letter of protest against "altering or eliminating any part of the announced road program for Precinct No. 2," filed with the court by Leroy G. Stump, general manager of the Port Arthur Chamber of Commerce.

It was primarily for this purpose that the suggestion regarding naming of Chambers of Commerce committees was uttered, and action left open for next Monday.

Letter of Protest The Port Arthur letter of protest was over the signature of the Chamber of Commerce. It said in part: "We protest against any proposed utilization of the proceeds of the recently voted two million dollar road bond issue which would reduce or restrict the road building program as announced for Precinct No. 2, whether such utilization should be for the extension of roads in other precincts of the county or for payment of part cost on the proposed bridge over the Neches river at Beaumont."

The voters of Precinct No. 2 voted for the road bond issue with the best well-defined concept as to the benefits Precinct No. 2 was to receive under the program. The voters of the precinct were then and are now positive that the program as outlined was not greater than would be possible and practicable under an equitable and just distribution of the bond fund on a pro rata basis, and any attempt to alter or eliminate the program would be a violation of the intent of the voters of Precinct No. 2.

A large number of Americans were on board. The list included John Henderson, Kansas City, Mo.

The Marvale ran into a rock and stove a hole below the water line yesterday afternoon, shortly before sundown.

Captain Lewis, in an effort to save the passengers, ordered full speed ahead for a narrow stretch of sandy beach which lay a few miles away. The hole torn in the vessel's side was so great, however, that she became waterlogged and sank in seven fathoms.

MELTED ICE CREAM The next time there is melted ice cream left set it with gelatin for blanc mange or thicken it with cornstarch or tapioca for pudding. Two eggs to a pint of liquid stirred in and cooked makes it a good custard. Left-over cream or chocolate may be utilized in the same way, or you may use the chocolate for the liquid in place of milk or water.

There are so many ways to serve Kellogg's Bran—the one great aid to humanity!

You will enjoy eating Kellogg's Bran because its nut-like flavor appeals to the taste. And, think what each mouthful is doing to drive constipation out of your system and to re-establish health! That's because it is ALL BRAN. Kellogg's Bran is scientifically made to relieve suffering humanity—IT WILL DO THAT AS NO OTHER FOOD CAN!

Physicians recommend the regular use of Kellogg's Bran for mild or chronic cases and as a preventive. Bran, eaten each day and in proper quantity, sweeps, cleanses and purifies the alimentary tract.

Get away from pills and cathartics—Kellogg's Bran will give you permanent relief from constipation.

Do not confuse Kellogg's Bran with common bran. Kellogg's is cooked, crumbled and ready to serve. It can be used in the most delightful baking products without in any way reducing its regulatory value. Try raisin bread or muffins or griddle-cakes made with Kellogg's Bran. Recipes are printed on each package.

Kellogg's Bran is nationally eaten for health's sake as a cereal—in water time with hot milk. Others prefer it sprinkled over hot or cold cereals. Another way is to mix it with hot cereals just before serving. It can also be cooked with cereal. In each case add two tablespoonfuls of Kellogg's Bran for each person; in chronic cases as much with each meal.

Kellogg's Bran is sold by all grocers and is supplied in individual packages at first-class hotels and clubs. Ask for it at your restaurant!

Crash Victim

Miss Juanita Bates, of Ithaca, N. Y., who was one of the six killed when a giant Paris-London airplane crashed at Mouscron, France.

bridge. He professed to be unable to see why Beaumont should have such an expensive structure at the expense of roads in other parts of the county.

At this juncture, County Engineer Love gave statistics on the proposed bridge cost, stating the bridge was designed to carry heavy traffic, but that it was so designed because the federal government required it in order to secure the federal aid on the project.

Stump's insinuation that the "heavy construction" portended future switching tracks and industrial facilities for Beaumont on the east side of the river and should be paid for by those interests which would benefit thereby, went unchallenged.

County Engineer J. E. Johnson was present from Orange county. At Judge Johnson's request, he informed the gathering that Orange county will build the road connecting with the Neches river bridge on the best approach, whether the bridge was built or not. He stated contract for the remaining five miles of concrete road, bringing it to within three-quarters of a mile to the river would be let on June 11, providing satisfactory bids were received.

Captain W. C. Terrell of Beaumont, probably the largest tax payer in the county, made a short talk favoring the bridge. He concluded by saying: "If this bridge is not built, I feel sorry for Beaumont, for Jefferson county was allotted to this county, and he shook a finger trembling with age and vigor at the members of the court."

At Times Woman Spends Too Little For Clothes

NEW YORK, May 22.—How much should a woman spend for clothes?

Percy Strauss, a clothier told all about it Thursday. His conclusion is that a woman often does not know how to buy, and spends too much for clothes in proportion to the benefits she derives from them. Then, too, she may not be spending as much as her income warrants. If the latter be the case, friend husband soon will be told about it.

It was learned, through Mr. Strauss' inquiries, that $100 a year is the least a woman can spend on clothing, while the minimum amount on which a woman can maintain a smart appearance is placed at $200. Beyond that extent there are different degrees of luxury and refinement.

Under the budget of $100 a year, a woman should spend $48 for outer garments, $21.30 for undergarments, $15.80 for shoes, $13.93, miscellaneous bits of wearing apparel $9.11.

These articles of clothing which under normal conditions should last two seasons, are figured at one-half their cost in these budgets.

Under a budget of $200 a year the young business woman is advised by Mr. Strauss to spend $108.52 for outer garments, $36.80 for undergarments, $12.46 for hats, $20.83 for shoes and $21.29 for accessories and miscellaneous articles.

If the young business woman has an income of $500, she should spend on clothes, $100; of $800, $132; of $1,000, $154; of $1,200, $176; of $1,400, $198; of $1,600, $220; of $1,800, $242; of $2,000, $264.

The business woman with $1,500 to spend on clothing is advised to allocate her expenditures as follows: $91.19 for outer garments; for undergarments $215.30; hats $102; shoes, $71.92; accessories and miscellaneous, $196.17.

REPTILES ON HUNGER STRIKE

Ben, 288 Years Old, Dies at Sea

NEW YORK, May 22.—With a full load of the weirdest and rarest animal specimens from the tropical Galapagos Islands, 900 miles west of the coast of Ecuador, the steam yacht Albatross, captained by members of the Hamilton Williams Galapagos expedition, arrived after an absence of two and one-half months.

Among the collection are penguins, flightless cormorants, monster land and marine lizards, doves, mocking birds, smaller lizards, certain rare insects, and botanical plants. All are peculiar to the Galapagos Islands, and many have never been seen in America. The botanical specimens will go to the American Museum of Natural History, the others to the New York Zoological park.

The expedition was in charge of Prof. William Beebe, director of British Guiana Tropical Research station, under auspices of the New York Zoological society.

"Our voyage was in every way a success. We did not fail to get every single one of the specimens we went for," Prof. Beebe said. "The most valuable result of the trip is the fact that we were able to observe rare animal, bird and plant life in their natural state, although I am delighted with the live cargo which we brought to New York."

"The best of the collection are the flightless cormorants, which are fast becoming extinct, the huge horned marine lizards and a new type of penguin, a large tropical water bird."

There were two minor tragedies. Ben, the 300-year-old giant tortoise, weighing 400 pounds, died on the yacht after three weeks in captivity. The specimen is almost extinct and it had been hoped to bring Ben in captivity to New York, as the only representative of his race in America. But he resented being uprooted from his ancestral haunts, went on a hunger strike, and one morning was found with his flippers pointing heavenward.

A giant sloth, picked up at Panama, also failed to survive. He turned up his nose at the insects and fresh cabbage which were fed him. "Too lazy to live," commented a member of the crew.

Clothes Are Human Failings! That's Why Girl Screen Artist Produces Many Laughs

Miss Irma Heimlich and some funny movie characters which she makes funnier with her fashion touches.

BY MARIAN HALE

NEW YORK, May 22.—The feminine touch! It's needed in even so ultra masculine a profession as making animated cartoons for the movies.

And that's the reason why Miss Irma Heimlich has probably the only job of its kind in the United States. Twenty men turn out the moving arms and legs, the wiggling ears and the vivacious chin whiskers which go to make up the animated fables of the screen. And when these 20 have reached their limit—Miss Heimlich steps in and adds the finishing touches.

Does Fanny Cat need a bow adjustment? Miss Heimlich sets it at the proper angle. Is some mere male cartoonist in despair as to how he can get the necessary punch in a ballroom scene? Miss Heimlich finishes off one of the evening gowns with a train of ears and the trick is done.

She watches feminine fashions and foibles as closely as any lady novelist. And for much the same reason.

Why We Laugh

"People want to learn," she explains, "but they don't want to know they're learning. Hence the best thing to do is to make fun of human failings."

"Superstition is the human failing that is real meat for the cartoonist. If we show a woman breaking a mirror and then all the ridiculous mishaps that come from it every woman in the audience will laugh. But because she has dared to laugh some of the old superstitions have lost their grip on her."

Another human failing—a sentimental one—is to fall in love with someone who is hopelessly beyond reach. Sometimes it is Farmer Cottontail in love with a chorus girl—sometimes it is the simple country girl in love with a stock actor. In such things the cartoonist can do one of two things—make a dupe of the farmer or make the actor hopelessly comical.

"But in other cases the audience laughs and licks Mary Smith out in front reconsider her decision to elope with the prince in the church choir."

"Clothes are another human failing, but tie a ribbon on a dinosaur's tail and most women in the audience will think of clothes a little less seriously."

The cartoonist even dares to run contrary to public opinion sometimes, according to Miss Heimlich.

"At the time when the Sheik was at the height of his popularity," she says, "it was taken for granted that 'sheikness' was what every woman preferred. But a cartoon called 'Not Every Woman Wants a Sheik' was one of the most successful we ever put out."

Cutler and Johnson, who are charged with attempted manslaughter, were whisked out of town following the shooting and taken to the Mason City, Iowa, jail.

Townpeople were still in an angry mood as a result of the shooting.

SPEEDING TRAIN SLAYS FAMILY

Husband Finds it Out When Crowds Attract Him

CARLISLE, Ohio, May 22.—When Bert Williams stepped out of a motor car bus to investigate the cause of a large crowd at the Baltimore and Ohio grade crossing here last night, he recognized the bodies of five members of his family who had been killed a few minutes before when a speeding passenger train crashed into the truck in which they were riding.

The Williams family was moving to Germantown and Williams had sent his family on ahead in a truck with the furniture. Mrs. Williams, another woman and three children were sitting on a couch in the rear of the truck when the accident occurred. Jess Gross, driver, who was slightly injured, said a grain elevator obstructed his view of the approaching train.

11-YEAR-OLD GIRLS SOPHISTICATED, RULE

NEW YORK, May 22.—Girls are now officially "sophisticated" a year sooner than was the case 11 years ago, the Camp Fire girls organization declared Thursday in announcing that the minimum age requirement has been reduced from 12 to 11 years.

Radio, newspaper, motion pictures, automobiles and other devices for speeding up civilization have caused the "theoretical" division between "the girls" and "gals," as the Camp Fire directors maintain, to slip down a year.

A nationwide survey in behalf of the Camp Fire girls contributed to the decision reached, in which Camp Fire leaders and parents were consulted.

FIND SKELETON BENEATH SNOW

Body of Miner Devoured by Animals

DURANGO, Colo., May 22.—Death from exposure on a lonely, snowbound trail and his corpse devoured to the bones by hungry coyotes and other wild animals, was the fate of Ray Retzel, mine owner and prospector of the Ouray district, whose scattered skeleton was found Monday.

During one of the heavy snows of the winter Retzel set out for Ouray, bound for his mine, just over the San Juan county line. He was accompanied by his dog and when the animal returned alone several days later, Retzel's friends became alarmed and instituted an unavailing search.

The spring clearing of the winter-bound trails revealed his fate. All that was left of his skeleton—the legs, an arm and a few other scattered bones—told the story of his end.

Bobbed Hair Suits Chicago But Paris

Decrees Long Locks

CHICAGO, May 22.—Paris may revert to long, stringy hair, false hair, "rats," transformations, puffs and other artifices that swell the coffers of the manufacturers of hair goods, exorbitant, jute and other stuff women in the dark ages piled upon and around their heads, but it does not go for Chicago.

Chicago has looked over the soney, bobbed hair crop and likes it. Bobbed hair is here to stay. The state association of hair dressers, in convention here, openly flouts Paris and its dictums. A straw vote was taken on the question of bobbed hair, and it won by a landslide.

There may be some slight shortness in the length and style, but as a rule, the hair will be bobbed to run around evenly with the tips of the ears.

Such remarkable results were reported even in obstinate and long-standing cases, that it was decided to put up Bi-lin in convenient tablet form. Get it today and see how rapidly your distress vanishes and a wonderful new feeling of power and vigor arrives. Sold by all good druggists, such as Klein, Drug Co., and Corner Drug Store.—adv.

Cy Williams Looms Up As Likely New Circuit Clout King

Race for Honors, Off With Bang, Brings Query On Standing of Babe Ruth, Rogers Hornsby, and Others of Homer Fame

BY BILLY EXANS

IS 1923 to see a new home-run king crowned? Is Rogers Hornsby, the man who dethroned Babe Ruth, destined to hold his laurels only one short year?

Fred Williams, better known as Cy, who favors in the outfield for the lowly Phillies, is the latest athlete to aspire to the slug title.

Babe Ruth in setting his mark of 50 home runs in 1921 averaged a home run a trifle better than every third game. That in itself is a most remarkable feat. I doubt if it is ever equaled.

Williams, however, is hot on the trail of the Ruth record, and in the first 21 games played he has out-done the remarkable performance of the Yankee star.

Thirteen home runs in 22 games is the record lump up by Williams during the first three weeks of play.

In compiling his first dozen home runs, Williams on May 11, in the game with the St. Louis Cardinals, jumped his mark from nine to thirteen home runs in five times at bat. In so doing he tied the modern record for home runs in a major league game, first made by Ken Williams of the St. Louis Browns and later equaled by Walter Hentline of the Phillies. On May 12 Williams reached the so-called unlucky 13.

What's in a name? Nothing perhaps, yet it is rather singular that Cy Williams of the Phillies and Ken Williams of the Browns should now be showing the way in the two majors as far as home run hitting is concerned.

While always a hard hitter it was not until last season that Williams began to win fame as a fence-buster. In 1922 he ranked second to Hornsby, who led both major leagues with 42 homers. Williams made 20.

Williams has a rather peculiar stance at the plate, and in National League circles is known as a dead right field hitter. Opposing teams play him in much the same manner as American League clubs figure Ruth.

The first baseman swings over to the foul line, the second baseman moves to his left, almost to where the first sucker usually plays, the shortstop is just to the right of second base, while the third baseman occupies what is about the natural position for the shortstop.

In keeping with the infield defense, the outfield swings clear to the right side of the field.

The pitchers work with the defense by keeping their stuff on the inside, thereby hoping to force Williams to hit in accordance with the shift of the defense.

At the Phillies park Williams will receive much assistance in his home-run feats by a very short right field fence. Fly balls that would be out on many parks go for homers at Philadelphia.

Can Williams keep up his slugging on the road? His chance to set a new home-run record depends entirely on what he will be able to accomplish on foreign soil.

PURCHASE 'LEFTY'
"Lefty," Davenport, pitcher from the Chicago Americans, has been purchased by the New Haven Eastern League club.

The wire carried that short sentence the other day which announced the passing of Davenport from the American League ranks.

Possessing terrific speed and a fine curve ball, Davenport gave great promise when he was secured by the White Sox, direct from a western college.

For three years Davenport has been carried by Chicago in the hope that he would arrive, but it seems all in vain. It is questionable if any outpunch in the American League has as much stuff as Davenport, but it avails him nothing due to lack of control.

Inability to get the ball over has been the one fault that has kept Davenport in the background. Perhaps regular work in the minors will enable him to overcome the fault.

TABOO MONOPOLY
BLOOMINGTON, Ill., May 22.—The majors have no monopoly on no-hit games.

A minor league—has risen to tell 'em where to get off.

Henry Kuntz, star hurler of the Bloomington Three-I League club, has pushed his way into Madison's hall of fame along with Addie Joss, Cy Young and Charlie Robertson.

He recently twirled a perfect game against the Rockford team, at Rockford, Ill. One of the 27 batters who faced him in the nine frames reached first base.

And that's not all!

After he signed with the Bloomers last year Kuntz pitched two other no-hit games. Then ill health affected his work, but he appears to have regained his former strength and effectiveness.

Young's remarkable performance never has been duplicated by any minor league player in the national pastime's annals.

Henry came here from James Milliken University, Decatur, Ill. He coaches baseball there now, spending an much time with the collegians as his league duties permit.

MINORS SHINE

NEW YORK, May 22.—One of the remarkable features of the spring training trip of the major league clubs was the unusually large number of defeats suffered at the hands of the minor league teams.

On the Pacific coast, the teams of that organization took all kinds of liberties with the Chicago Cubs who trained at Catalina Island, California.

The New Orleans club of the Southern Association took the Cleveland, New and St. Louis clubs of the American League into camp a number of times.

On the showing made by the Phillies against the major league clubs who have invaded New Orleans, the fans of that city have set their hopes for another pennant.

The Mobile club of the Southern Association as well as a number of other clubs in that circuit have shown great strength in the exhibition games with the majors.

THEY FOUND THE FOUNTAIN OF YOUTH

Two "come-backs" in action and repose: Jess Willard, boxer (left), and Babe Adams, baseball pitcher.

Mr. Adams confessed that he began to that trip back from Kansas City to Pittsburgh.

Mr. Adams admitted that the average life of a baseball pitcher is about five years. And he has been going 15 years!

"Just chance," he said. "None of this fountain of youth stuff!"

They asked me a question: "Did you see me lick Jack Johnson in 1915?" asked Mr. Willard, expanding his 33-inch chest.

"Did you see me lick Detroit in 1909?" asked Mr. Adams, tossing his movie-star hair.

"Oh, no," I said, on each occasion opening the door to make a quick getaway. "I belong to the present generation."

The natatorium was opened some time ago, and is being operated every day, until 10 o'clock at night.

Instructor Coughlin is an expert swimmer. He can swim and dive as good with his hands and feet tied as he can with them free, and he is planning to give some of his exhibitions in fancy swimming at the Nat pool soon.

Reside that, he is enjoying his hours at the pool by instructing those who don't know how to swim, his lessons are great and they're attracting good crowds of novices at the pool.

Although the natatorium management does not anticipate the pool to open "in full blast" until the first part of June, it is already gaining popularity with the swimming fans, and the instructor is keeping his hands full with those who drop around.

Coughlin has had the pleasure of teaching in the Chicago river with Annette Kellerman, and a few other celebrities; he defeated Annette, and he's won other honors. Not long ago he swam the pettes near here with his hands and feet tied. Don't believe it? Well, he's got the proof, and the exhibitions he gives those who are learning to swim at the Nat are indicative of his knowledge of water.

NO RECORD
When a base hit so recorded in the batting averages?

Ball players as a rule do not advocate many changes in the playing rules. Base hits, however, are dessert to every diamond athlete.

As a result a majority of the big league players favor a change in a certain rule that has a direct bearing on the merry old base hit. For example:

If two teams play four innings and the umpire is finally forced to call the game, due to rain or some other reason, all the hits and runs, as well as other records made in the game, are thrown into the discard.

The only reason for such action is based on the theory that the four innings played do not constitute a ball game.

Chronic Diseases
My success in the treatment of Chronic Diseases is due to the fact that I never attempt treatment unless I can locate the cause and remove it, thereby practically eliminating all doubts and guess work. ## SLUGGERS LOSE FIRST GAME OF SEASON 6 TO 1

Invade Saratoga Sunday and Play Fast Club

Special to The News.
SARATOGA, Texas, May 22.—The Port Arthur Sluggers lost the second game of the season here Sunday when the fast Saratoga ball nine took them into camp, 6 to 1. It was one of the closest, and hardest played games witnessed here, despite the finishing touch the locals placed on the old pill in the final rounds of the contest.

The Port Arthur boys put up a sturdy resistance, and probably lost the game on three costly errors, which the Saratoga club coupled up with that.

The visitors scored first—but that was the only time they crossed the counting rubber during the game.

R. Batterbee, who received the nomination for mound work for Port Arthur, executed the task well, and scattered nine hits through the game for the Saratoga boys to look at. The score:

TOUGH OUTLOOK
This is going to be a tough year on the free swimmers in the major leagues.

Players who take a healthy cut at the ball, a la Babe Ruth or Bobby Veach, are certain to find it a more difficult matter to get them safe.

Already Bobby Veach is doing bench duty at Detroit, presumably for inability to hit consistently. While Ruth will hardly be benched, it is a cinch he will find the pitchers much more difficult to solve this year.

The lively ball has made it necessary for the pitchers to take fewer chances with the free swimmers. The slowing up process seems to solve the solution.

TEXACOS PLAY ISLAND TODAY
Other Good Games Scheduled for Week
Local random, rested for several days from the baseball diamond, will return to it this afternoon to witness the first tangle of the week, which is scheduled to start at 5 o'clock between the Islanders and Skipper Ed Auler's fast squad.

Both teams are stronger than they were presented to fandom during the past week of City League contests, and consequently the fans are promised a better grade of ball.

Skipper Gardner has Chase back on his line, and it is probable that both Chase and Spidle will be placed in uniforms of the Island color again immediately.

The batteries for today's game have not been announced.

JOINS YANKS
Hinkie Haines, former Penn State football and baseball star, is now a member of the New York Yankees.

Haines and Killinger starred at Penn State about the same time. Killinger had the edge in football and there was little to choose between them in baseball from a college standpoint.

The New York Yankees paid the two collegian stars plenty of jack to sign. Killinger, most figured of the two, has failed as a big leaguer. He is now with Atlanta in the Southern Association.

Manager Huggins believes Haines has a chance. Haines is a wonderful fielder, has a great arm and is very fast, but he is just so-so at the bat.

The college ball player doesn't care much for speed. Recently Haines saw Walter Johnson shut out the Yankees, 3 to 0, at Washington. Johnson was very fast, had one of his good days.

"I'm glad I'm warming the bench today with Johnson showing all that speed," said Haines to Babe Ruth.

"His fast one today was his slow ball 10 years ago," replied Ruth in all seriousness.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

It's most unusual to have black lemon pies.

The next thing, said, Mister Tatters, the Ragged Man, to the Twins in Ragged Land, "Is to help the Chimney Sweep sweep out the chimneys. We Raggeds help him every year. Do you wish to come along?"

Oh yes," said Nancy, who usually decided everything for her brother as well as herself. "Where does he live?"

"He lives under the lid by the old water fall, the better to wash his broom," answered Mr. Tatters. "He keeps a dozen and three quarters because each of us has to have one."

So away they all went to the water-fall, Mister Tatters leading the way and Nancy and Nick and Rag Tag and Bob Tail and Vagabond and Shabby Coat and Harum Scarum and all the other Raggeds following.

There stood the Chimney Sweep waiting, the brooms in a row behind him.

"I'm glad you have come," he said. "Well be off at once. The chimneys are so full of soot the soot won't draw. Only this morning the Baker Man spoiled a baking of bread."

"Then Nancy and Nick can go there and clean out his chimneys at once," said Mister Tatters, the Ragged Man, to the Chimney Sweep. "I'm sure they're willing."

"Certainly," said Nancy obligingly. "Where does he live?"

"He lives in town," answered the Sweep. "His house is on the second one on the second street. Here are the brooms."

Away went the Twins in their Magic Shoes to the Baker Man's house.

Down the big chimney they slid and began to sweep. But the Baker Man had nine lemon pies in the oven and the soot got in every one. Instead of white meringue on top, they had black.

"I'll just charge ten cents apiece extra for them," said the Baker Man, "for it's most unusual to have in the Rio Grande near here."

A Puzzle A Day

The diagram represents a maze of roads passing through a small park. Can you trace the shortest course from A to B?

Yesterday's answer: It is a ham weighed 16 pounds on one scale of a falsely balanced scale, and 9 pounds on the other, its true weight was 12 pounds. The correct answer is obtained by multiplying 16 by 9 which equals 144, and extracting the square root of that number which is 12.

TALE OF 32 DEAD IN RIO DECLARED FALSE

LAREDO, Texas, May 22.—Customs officers here and in Nuevo Laredo branded as false today reports that 32 bodies supposed to be those of Italians and other foreigners murdered by Mexicans had been found Man, "for it's most unusual to have in the Rio Grande near here."
